THE GO

BY CLARISSA HORNE.

"All our pleasure spoiled now, for there comes the pink of perfection!"

Winnie Blye stepped back to give free access to the new comer, whose purple dress she had spied through the half-open door-way. The group of half dozen young girls exchanged arch glances in answer to Winnie's remark, and turned to bid a pleasant good morning to the young girl who, unaware, took her place among them with as little as who had a right to any position she chose to occupy. With an expression of disgust on her rosy face, Winnie drew back, pulling Janie Carter with her.

"I do hate airs! She moves among us as if she were queen. No! She's not one bit better than I am."

"Don't get jealous, Winnie!"

"Jealous, indeed! I am not, but I do hate to see her parading every where. I know any one of us is quite equal. Look at her now, taking that bouquet from Miss Pearl, and presuming to rearrange it, when everybody knows Miss Pearl's exquisite taste. Come, I'm not going to allow it!" Rushing up to the group who were now all absorbed in admiring the flowers their favorite teacher had just brought in to decorate the school-room, Winnie burst out indignantly—"Please don't let Mary Staid spoil that bouquet, after your own dainty hands have fashioned it!"

"Now that's to bad," broke out the impetuous girl, as soon as her lips could divest themselves of the seal thus fixed upon them, "if you had let me alone, I would have told her what I thought of her abominable egotism."

"And would only have gained her ill will."

"I shouldn't have cared for that, if I could have made her see that her own self is not the only atom in the universe. She acts on the principle that no one knows anything but herself. I verily believe she thinks you, Miss Pearl, are quite a numbskull beside her."

"Let her think so, I am willing, save in recitation hours."

"Well, I am not willing." Winnie stepped back and clasped her hands, bringing her two thumbs and forefingers together, "to give point to her remarks," she said. "I don't believe because some pompous [illegible] to take the middle of the [illegible] down with the air of [illegible] creep into holes and [illegible] min. I for one, [illegible] and what is more, I [illegible] shall look upon me [illegible]

"Come Winnie, you have free license to talk, so long as you are not personal, but it is against my rules to allow one girl to speak evil of another."

"Pardon me! I'll try not to offend again; but just tell me if you like to be set aside as if you had no taste, no mind, and in fact—to use little brother Charlie's expressive language—'no gumption?'"

"Certainly not. Every one should look upon his fellow as entitled to equal consideration with himself; and I think in general if we so treat our associates, they will, in turn, consider our tastes."

"May be in general, but not in particular, Miss Pearl: I'm not going to be personal, but I know some folks—" giving the corner where Mary sat arranging the flowers, a sly glance—"to whom the more you defer, the more you may, until you are set down as stupid; and, honestly, would you think it advisable to give way, inch by inch, till you were accounted brainless? For my part my brains are not so abundant that I could wish to be considered as having any less."

The girls laughed at this sally, for Winnie stood number one in her class; and before quiet was restored, Mary Staid, coming up, laid the bouquet on the desk. Miss Pearl noticed it was arranged precisely as it had been before, but said nothing. Mary had been unable to improve upon it.

"My dear girls," said their teacher, looking at her watch to see if it was school time, "forbearance is undoubtedly the better way generally; but there may come times when we should stand up for our rights."

"Sword in hand," suggested Winnie.

"No, not so fiercely as that; at any rate, before we put ourselves on the defensive, let us be sure we have been attacked at all; and equally sure we have not been the attacking party. Since selfishness is the ruling sin of the world, there is a possibility that even we may be tainted with it. It would be well, as an experiment, to keep account of the number of times we use the pronoun in one day."

"Ah! I am afraid some of us should never be able to enumerate the long line of figures!" Winnie folded her hands with a droll look of despair; then, in a half pout—"I don't believe you ever suffered from selfish people as I have, or your blood would boil, too!"

A peculiar smile passed over Miss Pearl's face. "My blood used to be as frolicsome as yours; but I am getting it tamed, now. The time has not been so very far distant when I was often compelled to bite my lips to keep back words which I fear would have been very scalding For three years I was associated with a woman who had but one idea—her own incomparable self. Were we at table, and praised her viands, it was sure to be demonstrated to us beyond the possibilty of cavil, her way of preparing said viands was the only right way of existence; and she would describe to us very gravely, as though we had been all our lives in the backwoods, processes with which we had been familiar from childhood. Many a time has the assurance been given us that the garlicky butter was caused by the cows feeding on garlic."

"And would you sit there demurely and allow yourself to be talked to as though you were a baby?" Winnie's eyes were all ablaze.

"Oh, bad that been the only thing, I could have got along admirably; but she soon passed on to giving me directions how to do this and that, or—what I disliked still more in these days of girlish pride, the question—'Can you do that right?' perfixed to the slightest task I essayed to do, were it nothing more than turning a cup of jelly into a glass dish."

"Now see here, Miss Pearl"—Winnie could keep silence no longer—"do you think it is right, to let one lord it over you in that style?" I wouldn't submit to any such domineering."

The little foot came down with characteristic energy, and Miss Pearl, asking if the explosion was fairly over, went on—"The hardest thing I had to endure, was her perfect indifference to anything I might say. She would talk by the hour of herself, her family, her interests; but the moment I ventured upon any remarks, her interest was all gone.—Were we at meals, her eyes would be steadily fixed on her plate, as though her dinner was the very last she ever expected to swallow.—Of course my sentence was cut amazingly short, as I had no wish to intrude my thoughts upon her when she was so utterly regardless of them; and for the reason, I suppose, that I wouldn't talk when not listened to, she thought me cold as an iceberg. It was hard—those years of struggling against the bitterness that would rise up in my soul; but it proved a wholesome discipline; it made me watchful lest selfishness wrap my own nature around in its icy mantle—lest the I govern and control all my actions. Yes, I learned three very important lessons: first, however partial I might be to my own way of doing things, not to consider it the only way, and look with disparagement upon the work of others; secondly, to listen attentively to those who were conversing with me, and show a greater desire to have them talk than to talk myself; and, lastly, not to make my own talk consist in recitals of the sayings and doings of the great I—first person, singular number, nominative case.—Girls, how many of you would like to learn the same lesson!"

"I would."

Winnie looked up, and Miss Pearl saw there were tears in the soft brown eyes. Then she turned to Mary Staid, but she was moving away, casting, as she did so, a look of pitiful scorn at Winnie, which seemed to say—"You have great need;" so closely had selfishness wound his fetters around this girl, and yet so artfully she thought herself untrammelled, and every one else bound.

Does Mary Staid stand alone? Alas! we must watch well our lives, lest we, too, become absorbed in society, because we live, move and breathe only in I.

Efforts to procure the Pardon of Jeff. Davis.

Paul Bagley, formerly a missionary to India and Japan, went to Fortress Monroe on the 19th instant, and spent Saturday and Sunday in conversation with Jefferson Davis. The object of his visit was to induce Mr. Davis to apply to the President for a Pardon, in the obtaining of which he offered Mr. Davis his services. Mr. Bagly believed that if a regular application should be made by Mr. Davis, he could support it with a petition presenting such an array of influential names, a large proportion of them from the radical Republican party, that the movement would be as successful as that made by him in the case of Governor Vance, of North Carolina. Mr. Davis, however, declined accepting the proposition. He said to ask for pardon was a confession of guilt, and that such an application would prejudice his case at the trial, which he was given to understand was close at hand. Mr. Bagley, nothing daunted with the ill success he met with at Fortress Monroe, arrived here to day, and this afternoon called on the President to ascertain whether a pardon would be granted to Jefferson Davis without an application if petitions were presented of a satisfactory character. It is understood that Mr. Bagley was equally unsuccessful at the White House. In the exercise of the pardoning power the President has been guided by an inflexible rule—never to grant a pardon on petitions unless such petitions were accompanied by an application from the individual seeking the executive clemency.

The Attorney General's office has now on file a huge budget of petitions, signed by hundreds of people North and South, praying for the release and pardon of Jefferson Davis, all of which are of no avail, owing to the before-mentioned rule.—[Washington correspondence New York Herald.

The Last of the Penns.

Granville John Penn, Esq., the great-grandson of William Penn, the Proprietary of Pennsylvania, died in London on the 29th ult. This announcement will be received with sincere regret by such of our citizens as had the privilege of making the acquaintance of this most estimable gentleman during his visits to this country in 1851 and subsequently.

Mr. Penn was the eldest surviving son of Granville Penn, Esq., of Stoke Pogis, who was the eldest son of Thomas Penn, one of the joint Proprietaries of Pennsylvania. Thomas Penn was the eldest son of Wm. Penn, by his second wife, Hannah Callowhill. We understand that the only surviving descendent of the founder of this Commonwealth, who bears the name of Penn, is an unmarried brother of the late Granvill John Penn, who was also a bachelor; so that the name will soon be extinct. There are several decendants of the founder, however, of other names, among whom may be mentioned Lord Northland, Lady Gonum, and the Penn Gaskill family; of this city.

MONTANA dates to the 19th ult. are received. The Helena Post tells of terrible suffering in that territory. During the late cold spell a man named Archie McCurtis was frozen to death on horseback near Bannock, and five other men had their limbs so badly frozen that amputation became necessary. The temperature ranged from 45 to 57 degrees below zero.

Queen Victoria.

"On the death of the Prince Consort the Queen had Buckingham Palace dismantled, and so it remains to this day, all except the private rooms. The Queen will not drive through the royal gateway of the palace, nor has she since her husband died. She will not ride through the royal entrance to the House of Lords, but goes in through the Peers' entrance. She will not wear the royal robes, and when she opens Parliament in person the robes are thrown over the back of the throne which is in a gilded chair surmounted with a gilt crown, and sits on them. She comes to London when duty calls, seldom passes a night in her capital, and has passed less than a ten-en in four years. She remains in quiet at Winsdor or Osborne. She has no company but what her official position imposes on her. The state apartments at Winsdor are all dismantled and are unused—the massive plate is not used—a plain silver service is put on the table—a small, quiet pony and a low-wheeled carriage the Queen uses for her quiet rides at Winsdor, and she seldom, unless duty calls her to London, goes beyond the private park of the castle. The one hundred fine horses that fill the Winsdor mews are seldom used, and the eight creams for state occasions are not driven twice a year.

"The room in which the Prince Consort breathed his last is kept with scrupulous care just as the Prince left it. The ladies say that each night the dressing gown and slippers are put in their accustomed place. The Queen's confidential attendant is a Highlander by the name of Brown He takes all the orders from the Queen—and barelegged messengers come from the 'Queen's apartments' at Winsdor when her majesty is to be served. This Brown has been the occasion of a world of talk. He is about fifty—tall and spare—with great assurance, and attends the Queen to and from London. Great attempts have been made to dislodge him, but all in vain. The Queen has a will of her own. Brown was the Prince Consort's Highland servant, and was held by him in honor. While Victoria rules England Brown will rule the royal household.

"Refusing to play the Queen, her majesty never forgets to play the woman. Her visit to Balmoral and Osborne are benedictions to the poor. She will allow no unseemly honors She drives her own pony wagon. Daily she goes her round with her carriage filled with little gifts for the sick, the infirm, the poor.—These she distributes with her own hand. By the bedside of the aged and neglected the Queen kneels and prays to the Sovereign of all. To one she daily reads, to another she presents some needed comfort; and she is especially tender to little ones who are in sorrow or want. All through the Highlands she is regarded as an angel of mercy.

"Her favorite room at Winsdor ovlooks the tomb at Frogmore where Prince Albert lies. He was a benefactor to the poor, and the work he began she seems resolved to finish. The night he died the Queen called in a young widow who was in her household to sit with her, and when all was over the Queen said: "No one now lives that can call me Victoria."

THE counsel of Capt. Wirz, who was executed for alleged cruelties at Andersonville, has just published a statement to prove the innocence of his client, and says that the night before the execution a messenger from a high Cabinet officer came to him with the offer that if Wirz would implicate Mr. Davis in the crimes charged against him his sentence would be commuted. He adds that the offer was made to Wirz and declined by him

THE Belgian Minister of War states that France is having 480,000 breech-loading muskets manufactured. The arsenals in Prussia are actively at work. Austria is having 600,000 muskets converted into breech-loaders.—England will have 350,000 similarly converted by the end of the year. Russia is transferring 600,000. Denmark, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Greece and Belgium are all engaged in the same warlike preparation.

THE Maine colonists in Jaffa, according to a letter from James P. Sanford, who visited them in March, are building houses and cultivating three hundred acres of land. The colony numbers one hundred and sixty persons, and four adults and seven children have died since their arrival. Food is abundant.—

WILLIAM AND MARY COLLEGE, in Virginia, is to be rebuilt, and help is wanted. It is the oldest college in America, but was burned down during the war. Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, John Marshall, Winfield Scott, Peyton, Edmond and John Randolph, L. W. Tazewell, John J. Crittenden and others well known, were graduates of the college.

TERRENCE CARROL, of Andover, Mass., on Wednesday last, beat out the brains of his wife with a hot flat-iron. He had previously beaten his grandchild, and his wife's remonstrances at his cruelty resulted in her death at his hands. Carrol is over fifty years of age, and is supposed to be partially insane.

THE city authorities of Savannah, Ga., have communicated to Colonel Reynolds, Quartermaster at that place, their willingness to give a tract of land near Laurel Grove Cemetery, to be used as a national cemetery for the interment of deceased Union soldiers. The tract designated embraces two and one-third acres of land, in which, there are already buried 256 Union soldiers, their graves being inclosed by a neat picket fence.

ON the 15th of March the troops in Bogota attacked the Congress, while at their deliberations, by order of General Mosquera. The immediate dissolution of Congress was the consequence. Afterwards Mosquera seized and imprisoned sixty-eight Senators and representatives, among them Murrillo, the late President.

Relations Between France and Prussia.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times writes, April, 8: "I scarcely remember any period since the President's election in 1848, though many important events have occurred since then, when more uneasiness, disquiet, and enervating discouragement prevailed among all classes of society than at this moment, and all this is aggravated by the persistent silence of the Government on the questions which agitate the public mind. There is a sense of disappointment and something more even among those who were accustomed to place unbounded confidence in the ability of their rulers. They see that the whole policy of Prussia is a crushing answer to Mr. Rouher, that his theory of the three fragments is dissipated by the treaties with the Southern States of Germany; that any secret designs in respect of Belgium are responded to by the marriage of the Count of Flanders with a Princess of Hohenzollern, and that the pretensions to Luxemburg are disposed of by the interpellation of Mr. Bennigsen, by the intense agitation in Germany and the appeal to the powers that signed the treaty of 1839. One of the Paris papers, never favorable to the annexation of that provence to France, says:

"The question of Luxemburg is no longer one of aggrandizement, it is one of national dignity and influence. A great country like France is always at liberty not to put forward pretensions, but the day it does put them forward and considers them just, it cannot renounce them at the bidding of any foreign Power, especially when that power has no right of its own." The day when it is otherwise, the day when France expresses her wish only to bend before the injunction of the foreigner, she is no longer a power even of the third rank, and, to use M. Their's expression, she is no more than Belgium. The conclusion to be drawn from the article of the Etendard is, then, either the evacuation of Luxemburg by Prussia, or war, after a brief delay between Prussia and France."

The apprehensions of the public are moreover increased by the rumor that Marshal MacMahon has been telegraphed for; that a note, "couched in energetic terms," relative to Luxemburg, has been addressed by the French government to that of Prussia; and that certain officers of the staff have been sent on mission to the Rhine. The truth is, that people believe France to be drifting into war with Prussia. In these circumstances it is not surprising that there should be a general stagnation of business, and that the spirit of commercial and industrial enterprises should be paralyzed. At the Bourse on Saturday, there was [illegible] ic, which affected all sorts of public securities. On the strength of the dispatches from the Hague it was hoped that it would open with a rise. It was quite the contrary, and on reflection it was seen that those despatches, instead of showing that the Luxemburg question was abandoned, only meant that it was displaced; that it was no longer at the Hague, but at Berlin; and that the resolution come to by the King of Holland has the effect of placing France face to face with Prussia. In addition to these causes of uneasiness we have the numerous strikes among the various classes of artisans, and the combination existing among them; the discontent occasioned by the unfortunate Army Organization Bill, and the delicate health of the Prince Imperial, which, however, I am assured, has been greatly exaggerated.

A CONVIVIALLY disposed gentleman, residing in this place, upon retiring late the other night walked indedendently and somewhat noisily up stairs and along the corridor to his room. "Why, what a noise you make," said his wife who heard with some anxiety the heavy tread of his boot. "How heavily you walk!"—"Well, my dear," was the gruff response, "if you can get a barrel of whisky up stairs with any less noise, I should like to see you do it."—Ex.

THE petition of Francis Joseph, of Austria, for the interference of our government in behalf of Maximilian, his brother, whose life is threatened by the Liberals of Mexico, was discussed at the Cabinet meeting on Tuesday, but it was thought that the United States could take no part in the matter.

THE Macon Telegraph announces the arrival in that city of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, and hopes that her sojourn in the south has been a pleasant one, and that she finds the morals of southern people much improved since she wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

IT is not work that kills men—it is worry. Work is healthy—you cannot put more on a man than he can bear. It is not the revolution that destroys the machinery, but the friction. Fear creates acids; but love and trust are sweet juices.

A VEIN of salt water was struck at Lawrence, Kansas, a few days ago, while boring for water for a woolen factory. The water yields one-half pound of salt to the gallon.—At that yield the business of manufacturing salt is considered profitable in that section.—Arrangements are already made to commence the manufacture, and it is expected by fall one hundred barrels per day will be produced.

A little girl, four years old, was recently called as a witness in a police court, and being asked "what became of little folks who tell falsehoods," innocently replied that they were sent to bed.

THE BEAVER ARGUS.

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

MAY 1, 1867.

THE Convention of unadulterated Copperheads at Cincinnati, presided over by Alexander Long, dwindled to twenty-seven members on the second day. They got as far as repudiating the national debt in their proceedings.—Lancaster Examiner.

HON. A. W. BENEDICT, late clerk of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, and Secretary of the Union State Central Committee, died at Huntingdon on the 28th inst. The deceased was well and favorably known throughout the State.

MRS. HETTER, wife of Rev. E. W. Hetter, of Philadelphia, has been appointed by Governor Geary, Examiner and Inspector of the various Soldiers' Orphans' Schools, under the new law regulating the same.

THE political department of the Lawrence Journal, will in the future be under the Supervision of a committee of gentlemen in New Castle who have taken an interest in the establishment. It will, as heretofore, be a Republican paper, whose columns "will be accessible by all true Republicans, who ther in or out of office."

J. GLANCY JONES, of Berks county, known some years ago, in this State, as a tool of the Buchanan Administration, is said to be about starting South on an electioneering tour. His "objective point" is the negro vote. An exchange thinks that "he will find it a good deal harder to pull the wool over the eyes of the colored brethren, than it is to perform the same feat with the Democratic masses of "Old Berks." We think so too.

THE "prophets" at Washington now declare that unless Jeff Davis is tried at the May term of the United States District Court, to be held in Richmond, the President will release him on nominal bail. They also allege that prominent Republicans are demanding his release, and that Horace Greely has voluntarily offered to become one of Davis's bondsmen.

QUITE a number of the prominent politicians of this State are now or purpose being absent from the State during the Summer: Governor Curtin has gone to Europe, Col. Forney is also on his way thither, Col. M'Clure of the Chambersburgh Repository is about to start with his family for the west, via of Salt Lake city, Montana &c., while Hon G. A. Grow has retired to Reno, Venango county, where he is said to be "delving" hard to amass a fortune for him self, and the Reno Oil and Land Company, whose representative he is.

IN the suit brought in the United States Court for Maryland, sitting at Baltimore, against General John E. Wool, for the imprisonment of a citizen of that city while the General was in command of that Department, during the war, the Judge charged the Jury to acquit the defendant, if they found that he acted under orders of the President in arresting and confining the plaintiff. The Jury after being out a short time returned a verdict of one cent damages for the plaintiff. This verdict has had the effect of discontinuing quite a number of similar suits that had been started for damages on account of imprisonment for disloyalty.

SOME of our contemporaries, in asserting that Connecticut is the first Copperhead victory in six years, are not exactly correct.—That party has had several victories within that time which gave them as much joy as their little triumph in Connecticut. There, for instance, were their Bull Run victory at the beginning of the war; their Big Bethel success; their triumph in the Peninsular campaign; their election of Seymour in New York; their splendid achievements over the "niggers" and prominent Union men in the New York riots of '63, and other equally glorious victories for them that we might enumerate. So, it will be seen, they have, every once in awhile, had a streak of fortune to restore their drooping spirits.—Lebanon Courier.

WE this week publish the call of the county committee for a delegate convention in this place on the 3d of June, and in the same connection announce quite a number of names to be acted upon at that time. A nomination by the Union party in this county under ordinary circumstances, is equivalent to an election; and hence the public may readily infer that an active canvass will now take place for the respective positions on our ticket. And while more or less of feeling on the part of candidates may be expected, between now and the holding of the convention, the party itself has a right to claim that the canvass shall be so conducted as to entail no trouble after the ticket is in the field. Our advice to candidates then is: if you win, keep quiet and consider yourself a "lucky dog;" if you lose keep cool, and "try, try again."

THE JAPANESE are becoming quite curious, and in their zeal for knowledge from the "outside world," they give the United States more attention than any other quarter of the globe. A few years ago an Embassy from their country under the lead of "Tommy," came hither, "swung around the circle," returned to Japan filled with admiration of our country, its people, and institutions.

They came merely for pleasure, or rather to "see what was to be seen;" another Embassy from that country has just now reached our shores, not, it is said, for pleasure, or curiosity, but for business, and precisely what the character of this business is, the public is not yet permitted to know. The names of these Commissioners, as they are called are—First Commissioner, Ontomogoro; Second Commissioner, Matsmoko-Tudayu; Secretary of Legation, Sanya; Second Interpreter, Seky-Simpay; Paymaster, Tisno-Sinnogio; First Lieut. of the Navy, Ogasawara-Kendon; Second Lieutenant, Iwata-Inisa-Ku; and two native servants.

Their business is with the Government, and within the last few days they have had several interviews with the President and his Secretary of State. It is said that Japan is very anxious to become Americanized, and it is highly probable that a more intimate knowledge of our institutions with a view of adopting some of them, has brought these officers of that country here at the present time.

"Flanking" a Legislature.

The Pennsylvania Legislature has a bad reputation, but the law-makers of New York are not one whit better than our own in point of legislative integrity. An instance showing this is given in the last number of Wilke's Spirit of the Times, published in the city of New York: Quite a number of prominent and influential gentlemen, among them Benj. F. Butler, August Belmont, and Geo. Wilkes, the editor of the paper referred to above, have purchased a grant or concession from the Mexican (Juarez) Government, of certain territorial or business rights in the peninsula of Lower California. Under this contract they purpose building cities, establishing commerce and doing a heavy mining business. In order to make their operations legitimate, they asked for a charter from the Legislature of New York, and entrusted the work of procuring one to the editor of the Spirit of the Times. He went to Albany, made known his wish, and demonstrated to the Legislature that if his charter was granted the principal office of the company would be in New York city, and that in a commercial and financial aspect this would be worth millions annually, to that place. The bill commended itself to the members, was reported and duly referred to the proper committee. No objection was made to it by any interest or by any person but out of the hands of the committee the bill did not come. After a few weeks waiting, Mr. Wilkes was informed by a few "promoters of legislation" that unless he transferred to them $100,000 worth of the stock of the company, his bill would be a failure. He made the transfer, as ordered, and then heard no more of the measure until within ten days of the close of the session, when he was waited upon again and told that unless he paid $5,000 more in cash the charter could not "go through." Disgusted already, he now telegraphed to a friend at Trenton, New Jersey, sent this friend a copy of the bill, barely substituting New Jersey for New York, and immediately thereafter his bill was passed through the New Jersey Assembly. The New York Legislature, by this time "got wind" of what he was at, and inquired if he wanted his bill "put through." He answered "No." But in the face of this answer, the bill was reported by the committee, put upon its passage and passed by the House. Without resting time it was taken up in the Senate, likewise passed, and the company now finds itself chartered by both New Jersey and New York. The Legislature of the latter State finding that Mr. Wilkes would "bleed no more," and realizing that his going to another Legislature to get what should have been given him at home, would greatly injure the State in a business point of view, hurried to make "matters right," but they were too late. He had "flanked" them, and now with a remorseless pen, he exposes the venality of the members and their "lobby friends," as shown in his own and other cases.

Senator Wilson in the South.

Senator Wilson's tour through the Southern States will not fail to do much good. His speeches are listened to by immense crowds of both colored and white people, and thus far all have given respectful and earnest attention to what he has said.

At Orange Court House last week some six thousand persons attended to hear his address, and so effective and impressive was his argument that the rebel element brought out a Major Lee to reply to him in the hope of stemming the tide which he was evidently setting in against them. The latter's speech was listened too by his personal friends, but the great crowd did not stay to hear him through.

At Richmond he was warmly received, and addressed one of the largest assemblies ever gathered together in that city. He was followed in a speech by Governor Pierpont, after which the crowd dispersed to their homes with more favorable impressions of the party that put down the rebellion than they ever had before.

From Richmond he went to Norfolk where another crowded house awaited his arrival. Thus it will be, we presume, at every point he touches in his trip, and his speeches made under these circumstances, will add powerfully to the strength of the Union party in the Southern states.

WAR seems almost inevitable in Europe, between France and Prussia. Marshal M'Mahon, who is at the head of the French Army, but who has of late been on duty in Algeria, has been ordered home by the Emperor Napoleon, with a view it is supposed, of organizing the French troops for an invasive campaign.—Prussia, too, is said to be preparing her troops for war, and from the tenor of the speeches of her Statesmen, it is inferred that the blow threatened by France will not meet the Prussian Government unwilling or unprepared to resent it. Luxemburg is the "bone of contention,"—Prussia now occupying it, and France determined on not permitting that Government to do so. The war, if war there is, will be conducted with great energy on both sides, and it can hardly be supposed that it will be of short duration; for the contestants are strong, on a war-footing, and appear determined to throw the whole power of their respective Governments into the conflict.

AN ELECTION was held on Monday of last week in New York, for delegates to a constitutional convention. Party lines were drawn tightly. The Republicans carried the State by a majority of about 20,000, and elected 97 Republican delegates to 63 Democrats. The Republican delegates for the State at large are:

Waldo Hutchins,	Ira Harris,
William M. Evarts,	Martin I. Townsend,
George Opdyke,	Wm. A. Wheeler,
A. J. H. Duganne,	Charles Andrews.
George Wm. Curtis,	Tracey Beadle,
Horace Greeley,	Charles J. Folger,
Joshua M. Van Cott,	Erastus S. Prosser,
Erastus Cooke,	Augustus Frank.

It is highly probable that the convention, when it meets, will amend the Constitution so that the ballot will be given impartially to the whole male adult population of the State.

AFTER war has for several weeks been represented as imminent and almost certain, a despatch in this morning's issue states that peace rumors extensively prevailed in Paris, as Prussia has manifested a disposition to make concessions to the French. Voluminous despatches received in Washington, though not of as late a date, from our diplomists abroad, give a contrary report. From these war would appear to be inevitable.—N. Y. Tribune of April 29.

Truth Coming Out.

From the Pittsburgh Gazette.

At a banquet recently given by the Charleston Board of Trade, Governor Orr made a speech in which he accused the Northern Democrats of promising overt aid to the rebellion, and that they failed to render it. Upon this non-compliance he predicated the opinion that the Southern people should repose no confidence hereafter in professions of sympathy and tenders of service from the same source. A New York correspondent of the Charleston Courier takes the Governor seriously to task for these views. He says:

"If the South (the late Confederate continent) has any friends at all at the North, they are to be found in the Democratic organization, and not among the Radicals. Why the South should be advised to turn its back upon its friends, and coquet with the party which has waged this terrible war, and brought down all this ruin, is difficult to understand. For opposing the onward march of Radicalism, the Northern Democrats were driven out of power in 1860, and for six years since, for the crimes of standing by the Constitution and the rights of the South, these Democrats have suffered insult and persecution, imprisonment and mobbing. If they have not been able to attain power and stop the pressure upon the South, it has not been for the want of striving. The very reason of their failure has been their presumed sympathy for the South. The National Democratic Convention at Chicago in 1864 declared 'the war to be a failure' on the part of the Federal Government, and that declaration was the sense of the party defeat in many Northern States.

Now that the party has maintained its organization and steadily increased its numbers in the face of all these adverse circumstances, until, as in Connecticut, it is beginning to regain its old ascendency, and now that the Republican party is torn by intestine quarrels, and is on the verge of dissolution, it is a curious policy to destroy the old friends by deserting them, and give a new lease of power to the old enemies by joining them.

"The charge is made that the Democratic party of the North promised to stand by the South, and prevent coercion in 1861, and that the promise was not kept. In response, it said that the party would have thrown itself into the breach, if, at the critical moment, it had not been deserted by many of its prominent men. A large portion of its members were carried off into the Republican ranks by such Democratic leaders as Dix, Dickinson, Butler, Logan, Forney, Sickles, Stanton and Cochrane. This left the party in a helpless minority, and for refusing to follow these leaders into a crusade upon the South it has been in a minority ever since. Now it is proposed that the South shall abandon the consistent Democrats (Franklin Pierce, Thos. H. Seymour, Horatio Seymour, Charles O'Conor, Isaac Toucey and the like,) and affiliate, perhaps, with the party of which Butler, Logan and Forney are leaders."

Several points are here brought out which deserves to be sharply discriminated and considered, to-wit:

That if the "late Confederate sentiment," that is, the feeling in which the rebellion was conceived and prosecuted, has any friends in the Northern States, they are members of the "Democratic organization." This is an honest statement of the case. The Democratic party was and is the party of treason. What it sought, and still seeks, is not to give the Southern States and people the full measure of their rights in the Union, and under the Constitution, but to enable them to defy the Government, break up the Union, and establish new forms subversive of genuine liberty.

That if the Democratic party did not take its stand, on battle fields, by the side of the South—or, as one of its Generals phrased it, did not "inaugurate war in these Northern hills and valleys in aid of the rebellion"—it was not for want of will or inclination, but because it was restrained and cowed by the strength of the loyal sentiment prevailing among the Northern people.

That the democratic party was pledged to resist the coercion of the revolted States, and would have made its pledge good, had not many of its prominent men, at the critical moment, taken their stand on the loyal side. The patriotism of the democratic loyalists, was their own; not that of the party. Their separation from that party was what prevented the party from holding its true colors and making common cause with the Confederates.

That, as the democratic party failed to redeem its promises, not through want of disposition, but because such men as Butler, Logan, and Forney, bolted, and contributed to the formation of such a public sentiment as made good faith impossible, it ought now to be excused, taken back into favor, and relied upon for any fresh emergencies that may arise.

That the peculiar spite exhibited by the democratic organs toward Butler, Logan and Forney, and that whole class, proceeds from the fact that their loyalty defeated the conspiracy which ran equally through the North as through the South for dismembering the Union, or changing fundamentally the character of its institutions.

—This confirms the most trenchant criticisms pronounced against the democratic party, demonstrating that these criticisms were not founded on malice or uncharitableness, but in a just apprehensions of the material facts in the case.

The State Tax.

HARRISBURG, PA., April 23, 1867.

Editors Gazette:—Many of the journals of the State have given currency to the following:

"The Legislature has passed an act abolishing the State tax on personal property, and substituting therefor a levy apportioned among the different counties according to population."

Allow me to say, that no such act has been sent to this Department for examination and approval, and that consequently no such act could have received the concurrent sanction of the two Houses of the Legislature.

As it is desirable that the prevailing erroneous impression in regard to the matter should be corrected, I would respectfully request the mention of the above stated fact in your columns.

Yours very truly,
ISAAC B. GARA.

FISHING.—Quite a number of our citizens have within the last few days been trying their luck with rod and line. Most of them return in the evening minus fish, and very tired.

THE INDIAN WAR.

GEN. HANCOCK'S EXPEDITION—A GENERAL WAR IMMINENT.

By telegraph to the Tribune.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—From letters received at the Office of Indian Affairs from agents at Wynkoop and Leavenworth, dated Fort Larned, 16th inst., information is given that a council was held by Gen. Hancock near the fort, with some of the chiefs of the Cheyenne tribe at which it is understood they expressed themselves in a friendly manner. Gen. Hancock marched to Fort Dodge on the 13th inst., and up the Pawnee Fork in the direction of a camp or village of about 200 lodges of Cheyennes and Sioux. The approach of the command caused great anxiety among the squaws and children, and when the military had advanced and halted within a mile of the Indians, it was found that the women and children had left the lodges—the warriors, 100 or more, armed and apparently ready for a fight, remaining. Gen. Hancock stated to the chiefs that no harm was intended, and sent two of them after those who had fled. They returned, however, with the information that they had continued and could not be found. Meanwhile the warriors began to leave. The villages were surrounded by cavalry, and the lodges were found to have been left with their contents remaining in them. There also remained with the Sioux, and a girl about eight years of age—who was supposed by some of the party to be an Indian, and by others to be a white, or partly so; it was evident that she was neither a Sioux or a Cheyenne; and had been badly outraged. Gen. Custar was sent in pursuit of the fleeing Indians. The fear is expressed that a general war will follow.

A FIERCE BATTLE WITH SAVAGES.

JUNCTION CITY, April 24.—The Evening Union of this city says: On the 19th instant a squad of the 7th Cavalry, under Major Cooper, killed six Cheyenne Indians at Cimarone Landing, 30 miles west of Fort Dodge. This is the first blood spilt in Indian war of 1867. One of Major Cooper's men was killed and one was wounded. Thirty-six horses belonging to the United States Express Company were run off by the Indians from Chalk Bluff station on Smoky Hill, a few days ago.

TWENTY-THREE SAVAGES KILLED IN ARIZONA.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—The Prescott (Arizona) Miner of Jan. 12 says 14 members of Capt. Hodges's company of rangers surprised a camp of Indians about 100 miles from Prescott, Dec. 31, and killed 23 of them. One of the rangers was killed and three were wounded.

Repeal of 1812 State Pensions.

The small calibre organs of the bogus Democracy are making a loud demagogical outcry against the Republican party, because our late Legislature in this State repealed the law passed in 1866, granting pensions to the soldiers of the war of 1812, and their heirs and descendants. We consider the repeal of this law as one of the few acts of moral courage displayed by that body, and are certain that they will be sustained in it by the people.

The recent act granting these pensions and gratuities, it is well known, was a mere device of the claim agents to bleed the State.—It is an admitted fact, now, that the bill originated with, was drafted by, and fobbled through by agents, who had the 1812 rolls in their hands, and to who pensioners and claimants must go to obtain their gratuity. It is, too, a glaring truth that the act itself is woefully loose and defective in the evidence it requires and in the service it calls for. Sixty days of nominal services, or "on the rolls," proved by hearsay evidence, carried a claim through.—Under the arranged and well-planned leakage of this act, the Commonwealth was being slowly drained of millions of dollars, and it is doubtful whether many of the bona fide 1812 veterans were getting the money.

In view of these patent facts, the course of the Democratic rural journals throughout the State, in endeavoring to poison the minds of their readers and inflame them against the Legislature, by charging that they are robbing the old soldiers of 1812 and their widows and orphans, is as dishonest as it is unmanly and contemptible. A party must in truth be down in the depths when it appeals to ignorance by misrepresentation. For the credit of journalism, we are glad to say that this pitiful falsehood has been confined to the country papers in the "Confederate X Road" districts, no respectable Democratic newspaper having countenanced it.—Press.

The Threatened War—The Result.

It is the universal belief here that Prussia or France will have Luxemburg and that there must be war for it.

There is a wide field for speculations as to its result, with the certainty that its commencement by France would fuse Germany, for all practical purposes, into one nation, with the strong probability of an alliance between Russia and Prussia, England maintaining, if possible, a neutrality.

France, with only the weak and broken reed of Austria and Italy to lean upon for aid; Prussia, with eight hundred thousand men ready to be put in the field, and France in a state of incomplete military transition, with internal dissatisfaction daily increasing—France, it seems to me, is in a bad condition to go to war, as it seems that go to war she must or abandon her position in Europe

Paris is in an unquiet condition. The Bourse is fearfully agitated. Ten thousand tailors on a strike are complaining of low wages and the high prices of provisions. Laborers generally are terribly grumbling at the latter fact. Tradesmen, shop, hotel and lodging house keepers are disappointed at the result thus far of the Exhibition; and there are, in fact many dangerous elements at work in Paris. Prompt and continued success might calm them; but reverses would certainly render them more to be dreaded.

Europe seems to be upon the verge of a general conflagration, and prudent men are already making their preparations for it, in the firm assurance that it must, ere long, break out in lurid flame.

THE Richmond Whig has gone over into the Radical camp. This is the first fruits of the Wilson campaign, and it comes quick and with startling effect. The organization of the Radical Republicans in the South as a strong, effective party is a fixed fact. Let the Democrats believe and tremble.—Phila. Press.

From Augusta, Ga.

Correspondence Between General Pope and Gov. Jenkins.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 24.—The following is the correspondence between Major General Pope and Governor Jenkins: Pope asks Jenkins if he has seen General Order No. 1, issued April 10, in reference to organizing States under the military bill, before he [Gov. Jenkins] issued his address to the people of Georgia, advising non-action until the question of constitutionality is decided by the Supreme Court.

Jenkins replies he had. He supposed he was exercising such freedom in the expression of opinion relative to public matters as seemed to be still accorded to citizens of the Republic. He did not imagine it was abridged by the accident of the speaker or writer holding office. In future he will do and say what he believes is required by his duty and oath of office.—This, he hopes, will not involve either conflict or controversy between them in the execution of their respective trusts, and he thinks it need not. Everything of this character he desires to avoid.

The General, in reply, says: Governor Jenkins's explanation is satisfactory as to the past, but for his own part, being sent to execute the laws of Congress, he will carry out the provisions of the military bill, which recognizes existing State governments as merely provisional. The object of allowing these to continue was the administration of State laws during the progress of reconstruction.

THE simultaneous abandonment of this continent by two great European Powers—France and Russia—indicates that the Monroe Doctrine, as popularly understood, vindicates itself, without any special effort on our part to support it by expensive wars or intricate diplomacy. VICTOR HUGO makes CROMWELL say, after the execution of CHARLES 1., that the air of London is unhealthy for kings, and the remark seems to be true of North America. Voluntarily or involuntarily, all monarchical powers have abandoned it, except Great Britain, and she is seeking, in a confederation of her Canadian provinces, increased concentration of strength to enable them to resist the subtle influence which prompts all contiguous territory to fall into the lap of our giant Republic.—Press.

CONVERSION OF 7 3-10S.

IN reply to numerous inquiries in regard to the manner of converting the August 7 3-10s into the new 5-20 Gold Coupon Bond we make the following statement for the benefit of the holders of 7 3-10s, who may not be informed:

The Government computes the interest on both bonds in currency from the date of the maturing of the last coupon, allowing seven and three-tenths on the 7 3-10s, and charging six per cent on the 5-20s. For example: you sent to Washington $1,000 7 3-10 Bond which reaches there on

May 1st	$1,000
74 days interest	14 56
5-20s	$1,000
119 days interest	19 56
(This is counted at 365 days per annum)	1,019 56
Allowed for 7 3-10,	1,014 80
You pay Government,	4 76

It will be seen by this that the Gold interest is given as currency, which is of itself a profit to the party converting the 7 3-10s of nearly eight dollars per $1,000, aside from the fact that at the present rate of Gold, say 40, the 5-20s pay over 8 per cent. per annum.

At present we are converting the 7 3-10s on much better terms than the Government, as the present buying and selling rates enables us to allow the holder of the 7 3-10s a better figure than has yet been offered by any one as a commission.

Parties exchanging through us, in addition to getting much better terms from us than they can from the Government, will have their Bonds delivered immediately, thus saving delay. We also register any bonds sent to us without charge. On bonds sent us by express we will pay charges both ways.

Adjourned Court.—The adjourned court for the county commences its session on to-morrow, (the 2d.) We understand that quite an amount of business will be brought before it.

J. & H. Phillips.—See the card of this firm in our paper this week. They have an extensive stock and promise good wares at low prices.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Mr. O. R. Anshutz of this place, in another column. Beaver and vicinity has long felt the need of a first class tin ware room, and it is to be hoped that the enterprise of Mr. A. will receive all the encouragement that our citizens can give it.

Not in Operation.—The manufactories at Fallston have all been idle since the late freshet in consequence of about sixty feet of race being broken. It is however being rapidly repaired, and in a few days they will again be in operation.

Meeting of Co. Committee.—On Saturday last, the county Union Committee met in this place for the transaction of business connected with the coming campaign. The committee, as at present constituted, is quite a large one, and most of its members were present at the meeting referred to.

Entertainment.—The citizens of Fallston have been enjoying a home entertainment or exhibition, given by the literary association under the auspices of Mr. B. Franklin, for the laudable purpose of purchasing a new fire engine. Many pieces were acted that would have been creditable to more experienced persons.

Apoplexy.—On Thursday of last week, Mr. Andrew Thomas of Franklin township, this county, while in the field of his neighbor Mr. William Stemm, took an apoplectic fit and fell dead. He was a man of about sixty-five years of age, and was highly esteemed in the neighborhood in which he lived.

Fire.—On Wednesday evening Mr. Rice's family at Beaver Falls discovered an out house to be on fire, about eleven o'clock. It was the work of an incendiary. But it was extinguished before much injury was done. A man by the name of Swain was arrested and lodged in Beaver jail, on suspicion of having caused the fire, to await his trial at the next term of court.

County Sabbath School Convention.—We trust the people of our immediate vicinity will not forget that the Sabbath School convention for this county, announced some time ago, convenes to-morrow, (the 2d inst.,) in this place. Our citizens should give the delegates from the country a cordial greeting, and entertain them as hospitably as possible while the convention is in session. The sessions of the convention will be held in the Presbyterian Church of Beaver.

Thrown off the Track.—Some villain removed the bolts from the switch on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad, at East Liverpool, Ohio, on Tuesday night last, by which the engine of the night freight train was thrown from the track and badly damaged, and the road was obstructed during the greater part of Wednesday. This is the third time, within a few weeks, that attempts have been made to throw trains from the track within the limits of that village.

Jury Commissioners.—Our friends of both political parties in this county will remember that the Jury Bill, which provides for the election of two Jury Commissioners in each county, passed the Legislature and is now a law of the State. They are to be elected as Inspectors of election are now chosen, that is, each elector votes for but one commissioner. Nominations for persons as candidates for the position will then be in order at the coming county Conventions, and both parties should exercise some judgement as to whom these should be. We mention it thus early so that the subject will receive the attention it merits.

Take Care of the Swine.—The ordinance of the Town Council, requiring the owners of swine to keep them enclosed, within the limits of the borough of Beaver, went into effect on Monday last. We are assured by the town authorities that this ordinance will be strictly enforced, and it is to be hoped that the owners of hogs, &c., will give these authorities as little trouble as possible in the enforcement of it. Let it not be said in Beaver that any of its citizens are law-defying, or disposed to array themselves against an ordinance that commends itself to the taste and judgment of nearly our whole population.

Shade Trees.—We notice within the last few days that quite a number of the owners of property in Beaver, have been planting shade trees—most of them Maple, in front of their dwellings and out-lots. Some of these, after being planted, have been duly cared for in the way of protection by boxes, posts, &c., but a great many others are simply put in the ground, and thus left to take care of themselves. These latter are a "standing invitation" to cows to "rub against," and not one in five will escape destruction from them before the summer is over. Without protection from cattle, outside shade trees are a poor investment; with protection they amply repay all they cost.

Meeting of Bishops.—The special Bishops of the M. E. Church, (or rather a portion of them) were in session last week at Pittsburgh. Those present were as follows: Morris, Janes, Simpson, Ames, Clark, Thomson and Kingsley. Bishops Scott and Baker were absent. The object of the meeting is thus stated by the Pittsburgh Commercial:

"The doings of the Bishops are not open to the general public, but we learn the main object of their meeting is to arrange some matters pertaining to the vast net-work of domestic and foreign missions under their supervision; to consider questions growing out of their administrative acts in the exercise of the Episcopate, and to perfect their plan of Episcopal visitation until the next meeting of the Board in the Fall. The meeting will likely adjourn to-day."

The Bishops adjourned on Saturday, and on the Sabbath following they preached in the city, as follows: Liberty street M. E. Church, Bishop Simpson; Christ Church, Bishop Janes; Ames M. E. Chapel, Bishop Thomson; Beaver street, Rev. A. B. Wambough, traveling companion of Bishop Morris.

Public Lectures.—It is already known to many of our readers that a Mr. Grant, a member of the Canton bar, has prepared and recently delivered at several points in Ohio, a lecture, entitled "The Universe Eternal." The lecture is said to have a good deal of literary merit, and is the result of many years study and research on the part of its author. We understand that Dr. D. L. Dempsey of this place has been requested to examine the manuscript of Mr Grant, and reply to it at an early day. We doubt not the task will be well performed, and the friends of orthodoxy will feel that their cause has lost nothing in being committed to such able hands. We are informed that Mr. Dempsey will deliver his lecture in Massillon, O., this week or next.

Burglary.—On Monday night some person or persons unknown, broke into the Store of Mr. Simon Snitger of this place, by breaking open the window shutter, and raising the window. The money drawer was then broken into, and it and the contents carried away, together. The drawer contained some twenty or twenty-five dollars, mostly in script. A pocket book containing some papers, valuable only to Mr Snitger, was also carried off, but found the next morning between his house and the Court House. Mr. Snitger and family slept in the room above the store, but strange to say, heard no noise made by the burglar or burglars, while they were helping themselves to his earnings.

Spring Again.—Beautiful spring has come again. The birds are beginning to enliven us with their joyful notes, the trees are bursting out in buds, and the ground is again becoming covered with a coat of beautiful green grass. All indications tend to show, too, that we are going to have an ususually large supply of luscious fruit, apples, peaches, pears, &c. The people also are up with the times, and are industriously engaged in cleaning up their yards, burning the rubbish, and making their gardens. Some, indeed, have plants up already, and are doing fine. Beaver is unusually prosperous in every respect about this time.

At Home.—Albert McCreery, Esq., a gentleman well and favorably known, as a store-keeper in this place, formerly, left the town some time ago to try his fortune out West. A few days ago we saw him again in Beaver, on a visit. He is in good health and most cheerful spirits, and highly praises the people and prospects of the western country. He says the people are industrious, energetic and thriving, and that we do much injustice to them in holding such opinions as we do of them. Says he is flourishing finely in the dry goods business. Still, we notice he hasn't forgotten "old Beaver."

The Rowing Match.—The great rowing match which is to take place at Pittsburgh between James Hamill of that place and Walter Brown of Portland, Maine, is just now a fruitful theme of excitement, from the fact that Hammill is at present in training for the race at Pittsburgh and Brown at Ellenwood, on the Monongahela river in this State. Hamill has trained down to 178 pounds and Brown to 168 pounds. Thousands of dollars has been staked on the race, with the odds largely in Hamill's favor. The day for the trial has, we believe, not yet been fixed. Quite a number of the good people hereabouts are also becoming excited over the race.

The examination of Lewis K. McCoy, for the murder of McDonald, was closed last week Esq. Oliver committed him to jail on the charge of murder in the first degree, at the close of the examination. We are informed that his decision gave general satisfaction.

We understand that his attorneys have made an application to the Probate Judge to admit young McCoy and Mrs. Muhrush to bail, and that several days have been spent in hearing testimony on the application. What the object is in keeping the fuss stirred up in this manner, we cannot say. Steubenville is tired of the matter, and nobody is any the wiser, as the whole ground has been gone over before.—Wellsville Union.

Ed. Argus: I noticed the following in last week's Local, in reference to a mistake the editor of that sheet said you made when, not knowing the degree which was conferred on a certain physician hereabouts by a Philadelphia medical society, you said the "degree of ——" was conferred:

One of its apprentices knew better, and in 'setting up' the original notice, inserted the 'M. D.,' but in the proof reading the editor marked them out and inserted a dash."

I am the apprentice referred to. I will not say that Mr. Odell wrote the above for the purpose of causing a quarrel between my employer and myself, (for he knew the former would suspect me, and only me, of giving the information to him (Odell.) If such was his object, he will not be successful. The above extract is untrue; I did not tell him or any other man that I corrected your article in any way; and no other person told him I so corrected it, nor will he say so. It is not necessary, nor do I wish, to say anything more on this extract. "Apprentice."

Lumber on the Move.—During the past week an immense quantity of lumber has passed down the river. The oil business is not consuming lumber this spring up the Alleghany as it has for some years gone by, and it now seeks a market further south.

A Card.

Darien, April 26th, 1867.

To Rev. Barnabas or Bishop Co:—I have for some time felt that you were misdirecting, by supported the principles and voted for the regular nominees of the party now composing the great Republican party of the country; and having elected your candidates by being elected to the important positions of trust in the county, and some six years since, when Messrs. Henry and Beatty were candidates for the Assembly, my name was also announced. I then declined, thereby giving my party no trouble. Again, when Messrs. Gray, Caughey and Chandler were presented for the same office, my friends again announced my name, and again I declined, thereby acting against the wish of personal friends, thus relieving the party (as far as I was concerned) of embarrassments connected with the nomination of candidates.

Mr. Lawrence then procured for me a place in the House of Representatives at Washington City, my term of service expiring with the thirty-ninth Congress. On my return home, I have been importuned again by my friends to become a candidate for the Legislature, and with a full knowledge of the responsibilities connected with so high and honorable a trust, I have consented to become a candidate.—Hoping for a continuation of your confidence and support, I shall therefore hope for a nomination. Very Respectfully,

S. B. WILSON.

Equity Lodge No 168, I. O. of G. T.

Beaver, April 24th, 1867.

Whereas: In the dispensation of Him who rules the destinies of man our Heavenly Father has seen fit to remove from among us our worthy and esteemed brother George Lehmer. Therefore, be it Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to the decrees of the All-wise Creator who giveth and who taketh away: but at the same time we deeply feel and deplore the loss of our beloved brother who was so suddenly called from our midst.

Resolved, That we deeply and sincerely sympathize with the mother and friends of deceased in this their day of trial and affliction.

Resolved, That notwithstanding we are called upon to mourn his loss, we do not mourn as those having no hope, for our beloved brother is not dead, but sleepeth, and will rise again.

Resolved, That as a token of respect, our lodge room be draped in mourning, and that the members wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the mother of deceased brother and also a copy to the County paper for publication.

Fraternally submitted in F. H. and C.

A. V. WOODRUFF,
T. HARRY DOUGLAS,
Committee on Resolutions.

Rochester, Pa., April 29.

Editor Argus: I am not intimately acquainted with very many members of the Democratic party of this county, but if the morals and social standing of the editor of the Local and his three chief companions are a fair sample of what the whole is, it must be the most degraded and debauched organization that can be found anywhere. I saw the four last Friday, in a neighboring town, and I blush to think that they are inhabitants of our county. More anon. Observer.

Odd Fellows.—The Odd Fellows of the United States observed Friday last, (April 26th,) as a day of thanksgiving. The members of the fraternity in this vicinity had a parade, after which they repaired to the Bridgewater M. E. Church, where devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. Alexander Clark of Pittsburgh and Prof R. T. Taylor of this place.—The programme was well arranged, and the affair passed of very pleasantly to all interested.

Obituary.

Lines written on the death of Gertrude, Seldon and Callie, children of Jas. A. Fortune

They faded—oh! how soon they died.
Ere summer bloomed upon life's way,
Those little spring buds, side by side,
Were culled—as in one single day.
Yes, plucked so early by that hand,
Whose chilling touch and withering breath
Not e'en the hoary heads will stand;
So they, dear ones, were stilled in death.

Dear Gertie—fond and loving child—
Was first to close her bright dark eyes;
Her rosy lips so recent smiled,
Were sealed—she felt nor heard our cries.
'Twas noonday—oh! that bitter hour;
And though the bright May sun was high,
His beams were shut from that sweet flower;
So beautiful—yet she must die.

Low whisperings tended 'round another,
While still the solemn hush was felt—
Was next that infant son and brother,
'Round whom to save, in tears they knelt.
'Twas vain; the shadows hovered low;
With dimpled hands upon his breast,
So calmly, gently, seemed to go,
And Seldon, too, was hushed to rest.

Then sorrow's darkness draped the day,
And found hearts broken, weeping o'er
Two treasures hidden in the clay.
Unconscious, death still claims one more;
And oh! but two short weeks were given
To linger where the weary roam,
When two sweet angels, back from heaven
Were sent, to bear dear Callie home.

Now those beloved ones, low are laid,
Beneath the early flowers of spring.
As side by side their graves are made,
I can but memory's offering bring—
With sympathy for those, that day,
A sad bereavement called to mourn,
Who stood beside the lifeless clay
And saw them to the dark grave borne.

Oh! then 'twas hard to bear I know—
But think, there's one that's strong to save,
Who took them from this world of woe,
In rescue from life's stormy wave.
'Twas such our Savior kindly took,
And promised them gently to his breast,
And promised in his holy book,
All such in him should find a rest.

Nor think the cold relentless grave
Exultant feels o'er gems we've lost.
'Twas not to death alone we gave,
But unto God, who counts the cost.
'Tis here the remnant only lies,
While we in joy look up to heaven.
Immortal is the soul that flies
Back to its God, of whom 'twas given.

Empire Sewing Machine!

I respectfully solicit an examination of the same by the public.

This Machine is constructed on a new principle of mechanism, possessing many rare and valuable improvements, having been examined by the most profound experts, and pronounced to be simplicity and perfection combined

In a mechanical point of view, the advantages we claim for the "Empire Machine," are—

1st.—The method of driving the Needle Bar by a compound crank, which produces the same action as heretofore obtained by means of a Cam; but in a more durable and noiseless manner.

2d.—We use a rotating shaft above the table, and thus are enabled to give all the com required under the arm; without detriment to the durability of Machines; having a bearing directly over the Needle Bar.

3d.—Our Feed Wheel is a friction feed, and so constructed that there is but one joint in transmitting the motion from the rock shaft to the wheel, and unlike all others, cannot be effected by oil or dust.

4th.—The Rock Shaft that works the Feed motion also drives the Shuttle. The bearings of this Shaft and Centres are hardened steel and adjustable, so that we can take up the lost motion at will.

1. Excessive fatigue to the operator.
2. Liability to get out of order.
3. Expense, trouble, and loss of time in repairing.
4. Incapacity to sew every description of material.
5. Disagreeable noise while in operation.

The Empire Sewing Machine is Exempt from all these Objections.

It has a straight needle, perpendicular action, makes the Lock or Shuttle Stitch, which will neither rip nor ravel, and is alike on both sides; performs perfect sewing on every description of material, from Leather to the finest Nansook Muslin, with cotton, linen, or silk thread, from the coarsest to the finest number.

IT HEMS, FELLS, BINDS, BRAIDS, TUCKS, QUILTS, PLAITS, and GATHERS.

Having neither cam nor cog wheel, and the least possible friction, it runs as smooth as glass, and is mpA ttically a Noiseless Mach in

LADIES SEMINARY.

THE Seminary on Main street, will be opened for young ladies on next Tuesday, 23d inst. I have made arrangements with Miss Maggie J. Anderson to take charge of the PRIMARY DEPARTMENT. Little boys and girls will be admitted into this department. Tuition rates will be the same for the present, as in the other Seminary. I expect the assistance of Miss Thompson & Miss Babcock, so well and favorably known, and will increase the corps of Teachers against the next term.

I will be prepared to accommodate any boarders who may be present at the opening, or any time during the term. As I did not desire many boarders, I thought it best not to advertise sooner, but to be prepared for a full school at opening of Fall Term. I will however, accommodate any who may wish to attend with us during the first session.

A full course, including Music, Painting, Drawing, &c., will be taught. I will give the school my personal supervision.
